It is with great pleasure that I sign on to the Children's Environmental Health Collaborative. This letter indicates Environment and Social Development Organization's commitment to protect children from the impacts of climate change and environmental degradation.

As part of our contribution to the Collaborative, we commit to the following activities.

1. Advocate for prioritizing children's environmental health in key international forums, including through joint co-branded communication and advocacy products, when feasible;
2. Contribute research on the specific impacts of climate change and environmental degradation on children's health and sharing guidance, tools and best-practices to protect children from these impacts;
3. Provide technical assistance, expertise and technical resources on children's environmental health;
4. Participate in multi-stakeholder workshops and promote unified approaches to enhancing environmental health and safety standards for vulnerable populations, especially children.

We agree to have our logo displayed amongst the list of partners on the Collaborative's website and updated brochure, and working with UNICEF to advance children's health, development and well-being.
